If unemployment is high, inflation will be low; if unemployment is low, inflation will be high. The Phillips curve and aggregate demand share similar components. The Phillips curve is the relationship between inflation, which affects the price level aspect of aggregate demand, and unemployment, which is dependent on the real output portion of aggregate demand.

The Relationship Between Inflation and Unemployment

â€¢ Phillips Curve describes the relationship between inflation and unemployment in an economy. â€¢ You already know that the Inflation is defined by increase in the average price level of goods and services over time. â€¢ When there is inflation, value of money falls. A low inflation rate indicates that average price of goods would not rise as high.
